“ Weeping may endure for a night, but joy comes in the morning.
Rest in peace, my cousin. It has been a while since I spoke with you; however, we always had fun and laughter when we met. We did not talk as often as we wanted to because of poor cell phone connections, but my thoughts and prayers were with you. I will miss you! Love and Peace to your children and siblings

“ So sad that Mr. Hipp family want even let his friends say their last goodbyes to him. Mr. Hipp was well known because of his professionalism as a trucker so he came in contact with many different people. I'm quite sure he would not of wanted it this way. That's why they say leave a will and they will have no other choice but to honor your final wishes. Henry you are truly going to be missed and I'm sorry your friends did not have the chance to say their final goodbyes. May you rest in paradise

“ Now why would you put this on here...just bid your farewell and move on Shanetta Jones - August 27 at 11:43 AM

“ @Yolanda Seamore...The loss of my DAD has been devastating for my siblings and I, not to mention our family. The way you have publicized your distasteful opinion on this forum is actually what my DAD would not have liked. Our family is embarrassed for you and send our deepest sympathy. FOR THE FACTS, we regretfully ask that you contact his oldest daughter Jammie at 404-957-9825 before you express any more of your disrespectful ASSUMPTIONS. I look forward to speaking with you. Peace and blessings, The Hipp Family
