“ I can't believe you've been gone six months and I'm just finding out about it. I'm Hurt and Just Wished I was Able to see you one last time. When I met you , The first thing I realized about you was your genuine soul. Your Smile Brightened up the room and You Always checked on everybody around you. As I sit here , 2022 when I met you plays back in my head. You was working at that food place and you mentioned to me how you desired cooking and stayed playing Apex. Although , Life Got in the way with us you always kept in contact to make sure I was straight . I thank you for that. I thank you for the laughs , the talks we had & the moments where I needed a shoulder to cry on and you was there. I know you would tell me “Nedymond Don't Cry” so imma stay strong and keep in mind everything you told me. The list of memories goes on but until we meet again baby boy. Save a spot up there for me 🥺💜

“ I will never forget meeting you at NRS . You were my labor that day and you said “cmon lightskin let’s get this done!” , I thought to myself “who is this kid bossing me around? But okay he right” . During lunch that day you wanted to ride and get some food together , so I said “eh whatever , cmon kid” .. Since that day , you’ve been the baby brother I never saw coming . I saw you last as I came home to Savannah , to lay a family member to rest . We chopped it up and I promised you I’d be back home soon to kick it with you again . I’m so sorry that day never came baby boy . It was short and I hated that being our last time , but we made the best out of it ! My heart and loves goes to your family . Y’all have been through a lot . But , I am eternally grateful , I got the chance to experience that smile and ever warming heart ! I know we all have our time , I hate this was yours . But baby , you left so many souls touched , hearts smiling and lives changed simply by showing up . I love you , until we meet again faats . Much love baby boy and thank you , for everything . Rest Easy Lil One ..

“ I worked with Antwon at the JEA. He was always happy and smiling when he came to work. The one thing I will remember most is his smile and his sunny disposition. My deepest sympathy to his family.

I met Antwan at the JEA and I wore this bright pink orange-ish hooded jacket, and he said to me ooh I love that can, I have it, and I gave it to him. he was the sweetest person and we always shared laughs about his niece that called him Uncle, and he said she was going to be jealous because I gave him the jacket. I said that to say this, he warmed many of hearts with his cheerful smile, this hit my heart heavy because he was such a sweetheart. Rest easy my friend and when I see the sun shining really bright I know its your 100 watt smile.
