“ So sorry to hear this. First met Walter and Marion about 18 years ago as soon as they seen us they would start singing I believe I can fly. Wonderful memories ❤️❤️❤️❤️❤️

“ My heart is broken. I heard of Walter's passing last night when my husband and I took a stroll to say hello to one of the most kindest souls we were blessed to have met. Walter sang and played his way into our hearts about a year ago (on a personal note). Having had seen him play many times before, there was something different about last year. We had our grandson with us and he and Walter hit it off from the minute their eyes met. He let Josiah strum that prized guitar of his. It was a meeting of the past, present, and future....time stood still for about 3 hours that night. So thankful!! He had a vision of how he and I would help those suffering from mental illness together. We were going to be a team. He would sing, I would counsel. River Street will never be the same. There will never be another Walter Harris. Thank you to his family and friends for sharing him with us.

My friend, I look forward to hearing your sweet voice again when God calls me home. Save me a seat!

Walter had swagger before there was swagger. He was just cool! A smooth talker classy in his suits from head to toe. Played that guitar, and could sing. He wrote many songs as we grew up on E 40th 2 houses away. I was in the band with him back in the day. Then later in multiple choirs SPPC and SHS Gospel Choir. I am sure he is playing his guitar and Keith is on the drums and Mr. and Mrs. Harris are smiling and nodding thats our boys. Condolences to the entire family.

I have known Walter for a very long time. He and his family were apart of my family. Walter loved playing that guitar and I believe he will be playing that guitar in heaven. May you rest in heaven with the Lord

“ I spent many nights hanging out and singing with Walter. Often, my kids would be out with us and my youngest dubb d him "Uncle Walter". He loved people and loved bringing them joy, and was one of the most endearing street entertainers I ever encountered. Savannah has lost a treasure. RIP my brother.

“ I will miss seeing you on our trips to Savannah. Enjoyed our times together listening to you play and sing, going to dinner or just talking on the phone. I'll see you when I get home and will sing forever in the presence of the Lord of Glory
